Polls close at " o'clock P. M.

The first few hours of voting in the primary battles for leadership this afernoon were exceedingly quiet, little or no disorder prevailing in any of the mbly districts.

District, where Devery is struggling to retain his power against rank J. Goodwin, who is backed by Tammany and Sheehan

According to Tammany forecasters this condition of peace and quiet was an en for Devery, and they asserted that Devery would be snowed under. There was little disorder in the Thirpafirst District, where it was predicted anticipation of arrests Magistrate Zeller by the suicide. H. C. Evans, marager announced that he would hold open his of the concern, denies that Water was court until 10 o'clock to-night, an hour in his office and said that he knew of after the polls close.

In all districts where there was any contest the leaders were prepared to neet any attempt on eitherr side to vote colonizers after dark.

Waiting for Colonizers.

Chief of Police Hopper, of Newark, wired Chief Inspector Cortwright that his men had discovered a gang of repeaters in that city who had arranged to visit New York and help the Thirtyfirst District Tammanyites to select their eader, but Chief Hopper said he would send some plain-clothes men over to spot two plain clothes policemen from the warm, and the track was very fast. The of the primaries and the police as folof the primaries and the police as foliows: Each committee is entitled to one watcher and one challenger, and so also is each set of candidates, making six persons entitled to be in a voting booth.

It is the province of the inspectors to decide whether a man has the right to vote, and they may order the police to arrest any man for attempting to vote illegally—and the police must obey.
This is to stop any attempt to block the way to the ballot booths under the pretense of arguing the case.

Deverey's Final Shot.

Every voter approaching the Democratic primaries in the Ninth this afternoon received William S. Devery's final argument in the form of a sheet in imitation of typewriting. It was in reply to a Goodwin document in which the "Big Bug's" inconsistency in running for the Tammany leadership of the district and at the same time presenting himself as an anti-Tammany candidate for Mayor was dwelt upon. Devery g circular declared that Goodwin's oircular was full of lies.

Devery Mayoralty campaign buttons were being distributed all over the Ninth by the big fellow's lieutenants. The buttons bear the portrait of the former "best Chief of Police the city ever had" in blue. At the top is "For Mayor" and at the bottom "Wm. S. Devery."

The Goodwintes were chuckling because they had found the names of "a few good Goodwin men" on Devery's ticket, and one of them said:

"It's all right; if the big fellow should win out, there's a good organization man or two to be selected from his bunch to act for the district on the Tammany Hall Executive Committee, the same as John Noonan is now."

Noonan is treasurer of Goodwin's club. Devery put him on his ticket last year, and when, under Murphy's order, Devery was rejected as an open enemy of Tammany Hall, Noonan was selected by the Executive Committee to act for the Ninth.

Extra Policemen Out.

Capt. John W. Cottrell, of the West wentieth street station, had thirty extra colicemen, and Capt. James Ferris, of the West Thirty-seventh street station, force, there were six coppers for each polling place.

Devery was at work before dawn, making a tour of all the outlying points of his district. This afternoon he was seen entering his home and unburdened himself of the following:

"Well, there's nothing to say, only we got 'em beat. We'll beat 'em hands down. We're going to be admitted to Tammany Ha'l, too. We'll learn them four-tlushers down on Fourteenth street a trick or two that aln' in the bo k. The people of the Minth A sembly District have had their constituctional right of franchise took from them and they won't stand for no more of that kind of nonsense.

WATCHED THE TICKERS IN DOWNTOWN OFFICES.

Coroner Jackson and the Police Make a Strange Mystery of the Case and Cover Un Evi-

Donald C. Water, who is believed to have been a wealthy Chicago stock broker, committed suicide this afternoon in room on the nineteenth floor of the Albert Building, at No. 74 Broadway. Employees there and the police are striving in every way to suppress the truth concerning the man's death. The suicide, who was about thirty years old, came here either last night or early this morning from the West and there were people in the building where he took his life who said that he had been a heavy dealer in Steel, which was tattered down badly to-day, and, being caught long on the market, he was iriven in desperation to kill himself. Water, whose name was ascertained from papers found on him, was first noticed around the Albert Building about an hour before he put the two bullets into his brain that finished him. He loitered around the doorway for time and then got into an elevator and went to the thirteenth floor, where he visited most of the brokers' offices located there and watched the tickers eagerly. He was observed by many on

At the instance of Peter A. Hendrick, counsel to Charles F. Murphy and Chairman of the Thirty-first District General Committee, the Board of Elections and down the law for inspectors the plain clothes policemen from the Old Slip station attempted to go to the floor where the suicide lay. Police Capt. Farrell took personal charge of the case and gave instructions to his men to keep their mouths "shut." He said he was the one who would do all the talking and then he disappeared, leaving Detective O'Neil in charge of Water's remains.

Try to Cover Up Case

The body was found by the superintendent of the building, Andrew F. Mount. Mr. Mount left the building without notifying anyone of his find and went to the Old Slip police station. At his request Sengt. McNally sent for an ambulance and Dr. Warner, of the Hudson street Hospital, responded. He said the man had been dead about fifteen minutes.

Manager McGraw to-day took on a recruit pitcher from the Beaumont (Texas) team, of the Texas League. He is John Bartley, who once played in the amateur teams of Cincinnati. He is still a boy and McGraw heard that he was as premising as Ames. He will be tried out in practice by Bowerman while the team is here and if he is as good as promised he will be signed.

Browne hit for two bags on bad blaying by Seymour and Corcoran. Bresnahan was called out on strikes. Browne was caught stealing and Mertes went out, Daly to Beckfey. No runs. Donlin fanned. Si Seymour walked. On a fielder's choice to Rabb Dolan got first and Seymour took second. Beckley was given a base by Umpire Hurst's decisions, filling the bags. Steinfeldt fanned. Browne took Daly's hard one to far right. No runs.

Mertes knocked an easy one to Donlin.
Donlin also landed Rabb's high one.
Lauder singled to right. Gilbert could not beat his grounder to Steinfeid to first. No runs.

Corcoran was sunprised when he hit in front of the plate, and was so slow in getting away that the ball from Matty to McGann beat him to the bag. Peitz was given his base, but 'Matty' started after (Hahn, making him strike twice before knocking an easy one to Gilbert, which put Peitz out at second, Hahn holding first. Donlin walked, but Bresnahan retired the side by landing Seymour's far fly. No runs.

Third Inning

Warner stumbled on Hahn's sharp curves, and Matty missed the sphere three times. Browne also struck out, crediting Hahn with the one, two three straight strike out. No runs. Lolan made the side's first hit, cutting the grass to first. Beckley sacrificed.

> "Would you accept a nomination on the Tammany ticket?" was one of the questions put to Comptroller Edward M. Grout to-day by an Evening World reporter.

"I don't know whether it is possible that such a nomination will be offered," said Mr. Grout. "I must have time to consider affairs before making any statement as to my intentions politically. "I will certainly look into both sides of the situation," he replied, with a laugh. "I am going direct to my office. I may not be there to-morgow. But I will the next day, and then maybe I shall have something to say to the press."

Managers of the anti-Tammany campaign admit that on his acceptance or rejection of the Fusion renomination for Comptroller depends in a large measure the success of their campaign. His withdrawal would be a hard blow to the Fusion cause, and to tempt him the
